

Research Questions on Lady Lucy

Note for students: each question requires several tasks. First, a statement is presented. You need to figure out if it is true, false or partially accurate (meaning part of the sentence is true and part is false). Then you must provide your sources. And, if sources are contradictory, you need to list both and identify what YOU think is the truth. Also, Wiki is only one of many sources; you can use it but it cannot be your only source. Have fun, learn and enjoy. And if you come upon other interesting information, there is a space to list that too (with a source).

1. In September 1886, Lucy had a daughter whom she named Esme.

True:

False:

Partial Truth:

Sources:

Interesting added information related (or unrelated) including photos (like a photo of Esme):

2. Lucy was hired to design the interiors of automobiles made by a company called Chalmers Motor Corp. and some cars had pink fabric inside.

True:

False:

Partial Truth:

Sources:

Interesting added information related (or unrelated) including photos (like a photo or drawing and price of the car she decorated):

3. Lady Lucy Duff-Gordon and Sir Cosmo were on the Titanic (the ship that sank) but they were not registered as guests in their own names; they used fake names on the ship.

True:

False:

Partial Truth:

Sources:

Interesting added information related (or unrelated) including photos (like a photo of the couple on the Titanic):

4. Lady Lucy Duff-Gordon had a very successful sister who wrote more than 30 books, some of which were turned into movies.

True:

False:

Partial Truth:

Sources:

Interesting added information related (or unrelated) including photos (like a photo of Elinor):

5. Lady Lucy Duff-Gordon wrote an autobiography that sold so well that Lady Lucy died a wealthy woman and the book has been re-printed as a sign of its success.

True:

False:

Partial Truth:

Sources:

Interesting added information related (or unrelated) including photos (like a photo of Lucy):

